ANNOUNCEMENTS
A story of the wonderful personal magnetism of Lieut. John Philip Sousa is told by Inspector Thurlow Parker, who is in charge of one of the offices of the U. S. Customs service in Greater New York. Mr. Parker is an ardent admirer of the "March King," and tells of his experience as follows: "Sousa, in the days I was under him in the Marine Band, was a most magnetic man. He could exercise what might be termed a hypnotic influence over the men of the band. I distinctly recall one occasion when the band was to play a selection from Faust. By mistake, the librarian did not give me my second concert part. "I did not discover the oversight until Sousa had said his baton to commence. The piece was carried through to the part when I was supposed to join in, and with a graceful apology, Sousa turned toward me. I was panic stricken, but as I looked toward him in despair, my eye caught him. I was like one hypnotized, and to my astonishment, I found myself playing the part with perfect ease without the notes. I honestly believe I was hypnotized by the great leader that day." Lieut. Sousa and his world famous band came to Norwich, Conn., in support of Battery B, on Monday, Sept. 13. Davis Theatre. "The Woman in Room Thirteen" is a picture which calls for strong and emotional acting; and Miss Frederick is one of America's foremost screen actresses. The picture has been booked for the Davis Theatre. The story in detail is as follows: After finding him enjoying a drink, she revivifies him and later marries a hard working young man, Paul Ramsey, employed by a reprobate, Dick Turner. One day, just before he leaves town on business, Paul holds a clerk town pass a shining remark about his wife and Turner. He sets a detective to protect his wife while he is away. The detective is none other than John Bruce, known as Graham to Turner. Graham sets a telephone from Turner's apartment to his own and learns that Laura is Turner's mistress. But Edna Crane, Graham's sister, Paul to listen to the conversation supposedly between Laura and her employer. The next development forms the climax to a wild and picture replete with thrills. The confession of Edna Crane and the defeat of Turner's purpose makes a brilliant ending to an absorbing picture. Don't baby the girl of the family and close your eyes to the fact that she is growing up. One of these days she may surprise you by taking full charge of the family, arranging everybody's life to suit herself, and calmly selecting the most eligible man in sight for her husband. That's what Jerry did. Picture fans won't neglect the chance to get acquainted with Jerry, the heroine of "Don't Call Me Little Girl," who is due at the Davis Theatre. Mary Miles Minter is the star who portrays Jerry. The last showing of that amazing production "Sentimental Tommy" which has been making the old young again and the young and coming to the Davis Theatre. Gareth Hughes and May McAvoy head an exceptionally fine cast. A Mack Sennett comedy entitled "Wedding Bells Off of Time and a Paramount Magazine will also be shown. "Pitter Patter" "Pitter Patter" has been immortalized in "Pitter Patter" the reigning musical comedy success that comes to the Davis theatre Wednesday evening, September 14, after a long run at the Longacre theatre, New York City. The hero is so afraid of the gentler sex that he even tries to hide in a copper mine. But Cupid finds him out even before he before leaves the mine. The young man is a very lion for courage in pursuing the girl he adores. It is an adorable love story that is filled with surprises, thrills and innumerable side-splitting situations. It unfolds in a series of scenes and dances. William E. Friedlander wrote the haunting music and the catchy lyrics, while Will M. Hough has won added reputation by his highly interesting and clever lyrics. "Pitter Patter" is in three acts, five elaborate scenes and more than a score of songs and dance numbers and will be presented here with a big company of Metropolitan stars. The famous Broadway chorus and the original stage settings and costumes that won so much praise during the long Broadway engagement. Breed Theatre. Tom Mix, the Fox daredevil of the screen, is at the Breed Theatre today in "A Riding Romeo." In this picture Tom does some new stunts that will make you laugh while they give you a thrill. Tom wrote the play himself, so you can realize that he has put into it all the things he likes to do; and besides, Tom just naturally would write into a story more daredevilry than an ordinary writer might insert. He has a sense of humor, and nothing really criminal. Then, crowdlike, everybody turns out of cheer for him. This Mix picture, produced by Fox, is declared to be most palatable entertainment. Other pictures on the bill include the 13th chapter of "The Son of Tarzan," "Turpin in the Sighs by the Sea," "Ben Mack Sennett comedy and the Pathe News. Some men have confidence enough in their veracity to believe all they say. ARCHITECTS CUDWORTH & THOMPSON ARCHITECTS Theater Building, Norwich, Conn.
